

Prevent losses from fraud and forgery

Check fraud is one of the largest challenges facing businesses today. Modern technology makes the production of authentic-looking counterfeit checks easier than ever.

Northwestern's Positive Pay helps reduce your check fraud losses by providing you the means to make a daily review of suspect items presented against your account. Through a continuously updated issue file, we are able to identify potentially fraudulent items. You then decide whether the bank should go ahead and pay or return the suspect items.

KEY FEATURES

- Increased fraud protection
- Reduced disbursement risk due to meeting timely return deadlines
- Enhanced control over whether a discrepant check should be paid
- Convenient reporting